

Paolo Baldini DubFiles

meets Andrew I & Jah Thunder:

‘Moses Seh No War’

Out September 30, on La Tempesta Dub and distributed by Believe, the new single by Andrew I entitled Moses Seh No War: a project that bridges Europe and Jamaica under the banner of dancehall.

The track continues the established collaboration between Paolo Baldini DubFiles—one of the most renowned producers and sound engineers on the international reggae scene—and Andrew I, a distinctive voice in Italian reggae/dancehall. Active since the early 2000s, Andrew I has performed on numerous European stages and collaborated with prominent artists, building over the years a discography that includes singles, dubplates, and contributions to collective productions.

Joining them is Jah Thunder, a veteran of the Jamaican scene, long-time member of Capleton’s crew, and an artist with extensive experience both live and in the studio. Known for the energy of his performances and lyrics that combine spirituality and militancy, Jah Thunder has released several singles and collaborated with leading names in the international reggae/dancehall movement.

With Moses Seh No War, Andrew I, Paolo Baldini, and Jah Thunder deliver a track that reaffirms music’s power as an instrument of unity and sharing, further strengthening the cultural bridge between Italy and Jamaica.

The single is available on all major digital platforms.

Recorded, mixed, mastered and produced by Paolo Baldini DubFiles at Alambic Conspiracy Studio in Pordenone, IT

